WELCOME TO INTEGRATE 2015

On behalf of the Integrate events team and our event partners, InfoComm and CEDIA, I would like to take this opportunity to welcome you to the seventh edition of Integrate.

This year will be the inaugural Integrate for Melbourne and with more than 4,000m^2 of exhibit space and thousands of registered attendees expected from around Australia and the APAC region, it promises to be truly special.

Whether your interest is in commercial or residential technology systems integration, we are confident that your time spent at Integrate will be educational and rewarding.

In addition to hosting an impressive line-up of exhibitors on the show floor, Integrate offers a broad program of professional development opportunities. Both InfoComm and CEDIA are offering a range of accredited training programs that are running in parallel with the show.

Following on from the success of the Future Trend Talks series last year, Integrate will again host debates and discussions on emerging global technologies and trends that are developing rapidly both globally and regionally, and changing the way we live and work, through the 2015 Speaker Series. The program this year is brought to life in collaboration with our educational partners; Engagis for Digital Signage and Content Development on day one; the Interactive Multimedia Collaborative Communications Alliance (IMCCA) for Unified Collaborative Communications on day two; and KNX for Automation and Control on day three.

Please visit www.integrate-expo.com for the full program and registration details.

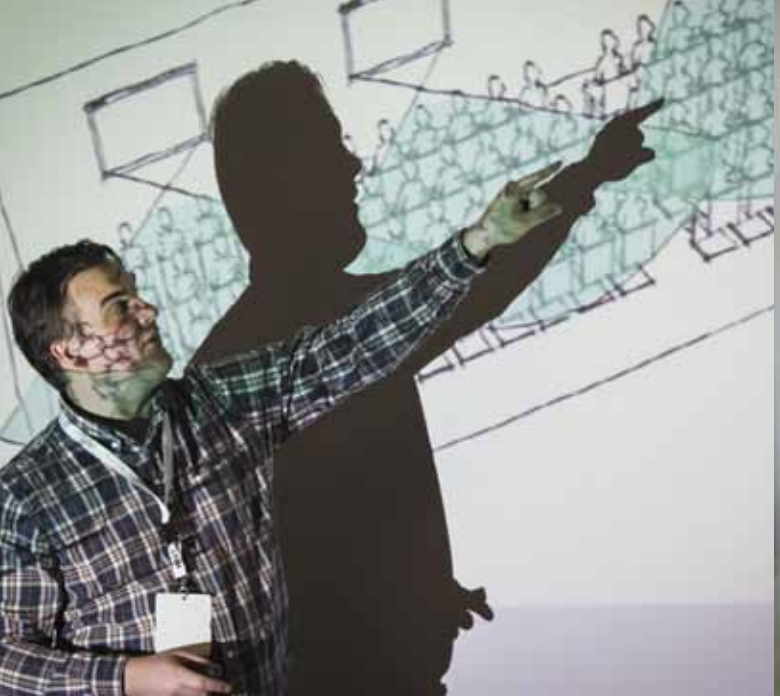
While at the show, please also take the opportunity to attend one of the free workshops within our Live Events & Worship theatre or Educational Entertainment Technology zone, located on the show floor.

If you need a rest, stop by the Integrate café or bar for a break and to network with industry colleagues and professionals.

Looking ahead to 2016, Integrate will again be back in Sydney at the Sydney Showground. Beyond that we hope to be back in Melbourne in 2017. I would like to thank all our exhibitors and the integration industry for the support you have given us and for making Integrate a truly 'must attend' event for the industry.

The Integrate team wishes you all the best for this year's show and we hope you have a most rewarding experience.

Soren Norgaard
Event Manager



INFOCOMM INTERNATIONAL

Welcome to Integrate 2015!

As the executive director and CEO of InfoComm International, it is my pleasure to welcome you to the seventh annual Integrate show. I am pleased to see the latest technology, revisit with those I met last year and get to know more of you who have been building the Pro AV industry in Australia. We are grateful that so many visitors are joining us at our first show based in Melbourne.

I hope you will also take time to visit our educational seminar program. One of the most valuable elements of Integrate 2015 is the ability to combine time spent on the show floor seeing the technology of the future, with classroom learning about the trends and technologies that will be impacting the industry for years to come.

Of course, as always, we can't discuss this great event without celebrating our valued partner, Diversified Communications. InfoComm is fortunate to have wonderful partners around the world and Diversified is committed to creating an exceptional trade show that the whole industry in Australia and the rest of Oceania can rally around.

David Labuskes, CTS, RCDD
Executive Director and CEO
InfoComm International

CEDIA

CUSTOM ELECTRONIC DESIGN & INSTALLATION ASSOCIATION

Welcome to Integrate 2015, we are so glad you are here!

CEDIA is honoured to once again partner with InfoComm and Diversified Communications to showcase the latest technology and bring relevant training to Australia.

This year, CEDIA has a full training line-up offering you the opportunity to take advantage of industry-specific courses taught by world-class instructors. This year's schedule includes a mix of emerging trends and business topics to help you stay competitive in the market.

If you want to know more about CEDIA, or just want to put faces to names, we would love to connect with you too. Visit us at stand 018; you can meet CEDIA staff, mingle with peers and learn more about the benefits of CEDIA membership.

You are also invited to join us for our awards celebration on Wednesday evening from 6:00pm to 9:00pm at The Australian Centre for the Moving Image (ACMI). Enjoy the beautiful surroundings of ACMI, grab a cocktail and help us celebrate the 2015 Electronic Lifestyles® Awards winners.

On behalf of myself and the rest of the CEDIA staff, we look forward to meeting with you and are excited for Integrate 2015.

Don Gilpin
Executive Director - CEDIA

How do Australia's leading brands connect with customers and staff?

You may not know our name, but we're willing to bet you've used one of our solutions. In the fast paced world of digital, Engagis is the market leader behind the market leaders. We've been creating connections for Aussie household names since 2001. In fact, our in-store technology generates millions of views, promotions, interactions, conversations and transactions every single day.

Whether via digital signage, interactive screens, self-service kiosks, mobile marketing or retail analytics, we're redefining the customer experience for leading brands. Our charter is simple - we use technology to deliver connected experiences - connected experiences that drive customer engagement, improve service and greatly increase sales, all at a lower cost.

Your customers are changing. Are you?
